Power from wall through wall start into screen ducting

Power from ducted skirting through wall start into screen ducting

Power your Space

The System 75 screens incorporate a duct into the design of the screen enabling clean, clutterless cable access and management. The System 75 screen (in conjunction with any of our desking options) also has a multitude of optional variations for access to power and data. Termination points can easily be accessed from the ceiling, the floor or from the walls and skirting. Specialised power and data fixtures can also be incorporated above and below bench to suit your requirements.

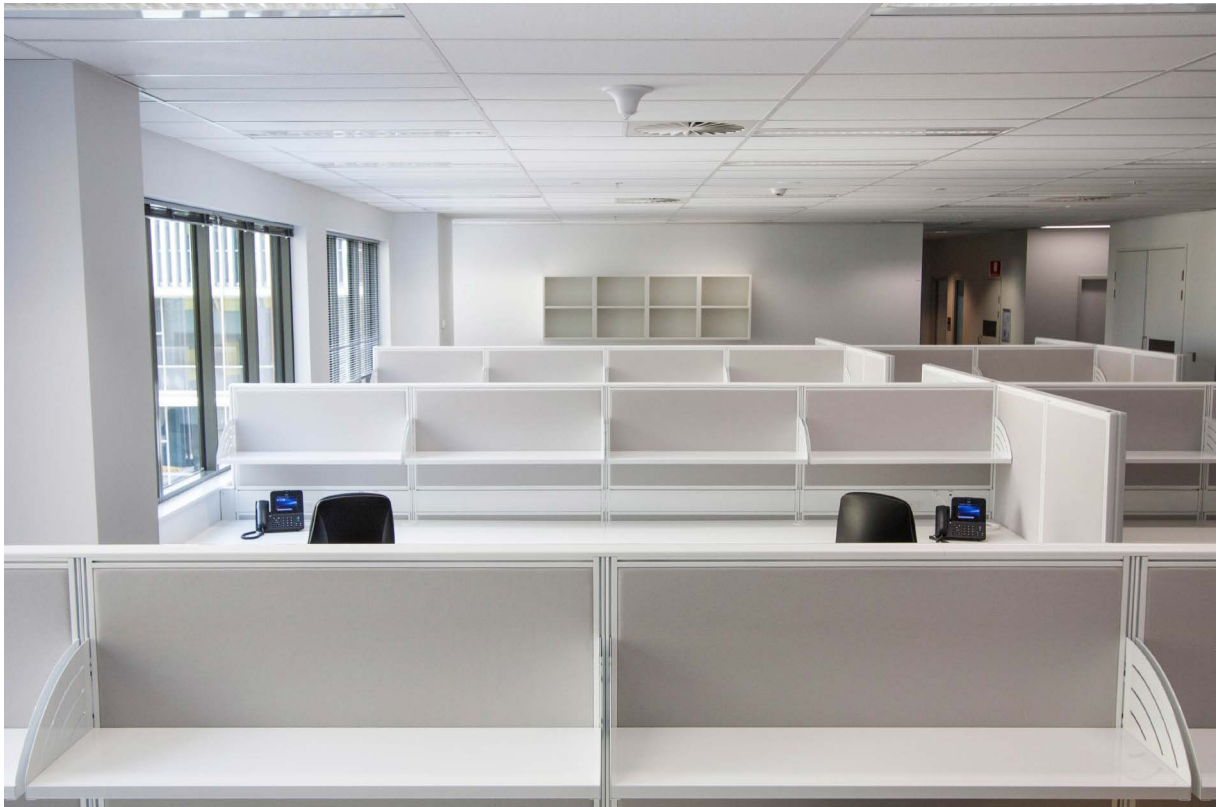

SYSTEM 75 by WATTS COMMERCIAL FURNITURE

All furniture supplied by Watts Commercial Furniture comes with a limited 10 year warranty. A warranty period of 7 years applies to all seating and 5 years for all metal storage items.

WCF SYSTEM 75 partition is a modular and durable workstation system designed with the modern workplace in mind. In this screen partition system, panels, tiles and ducted rails can be incorporated into one partition, a feature not found in most other systems.

Heights and Sizes

The System 75 partition screens can be utilised in many ways, from workstation partitions to entire office walls. The modular design means that screens of any size and length can be created and customised to accommodate your needs.
